The White House Wedding.

NATALIE SUM NER DINCOLN.

HE marriage of Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson and Mr. Francis B. Sayre at the Whit- House November 25, is still focusing the attention of so ciety here and elsewhere, and the details given out about the personne of the bridal party has but whetted the curiosity and interest of the reading and gossiping public.

The lucky recipients of invitations to the wedding are gloating over their less fortunate friends. Official society will be represented at the White House ceremony by the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, the Chief Justice and Mrs. White, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Joreph McKenna, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Olive Wendell Holmes, Mr. Justice William R. Day, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Horac H. Lurton, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Charles E. Hughes, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Willi Van Devanter, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Joseph Lamar, Mr. Justice and Mrs. Mahlon Pitney, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Bryan, the Secretary of the Treasury and Miss Mona McAdoo, the Secretary of War and Mrs. Lindley M. Garrison, the Autorney General, Mr. McReynolds; the Postmaster General and Mrs. Burleson, the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Daniels, the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Lane, the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston tise Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Redfield, the Secretary of Labor and Mrs Wilson, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and Mrs. Champ Clark, Miss Genevieve Clark, and the leaders of both Houses of Congress and their wives. The Ambassadors and Minister and their wives are the only members of the Diplomatic Corps included in the list.

Invitations have been sent to other cities also, so that many of the guests at the wedding will be stranger; to society at the National Capital. Both the President and Mrs Wilson and Mr. Sayre have large family connections, and many relatives of the brid: and bridegroom will come to Washington to attend the wedding. In many instances the President and Mrs. Wilson have only invited the daughters and sons of their old friends, so that, except for the official

Miss Jessin Wilson has, naturally, been absorbed in getting her trousses Both she and her mother do much of their shopping in Baltimore as well as in New York, and they go back and forth frequently for "fittings" and to perfec other details of the wedding.

Miss Wilson, in selecting her bridesmaids, has chosen old friends, and Mr. Sayre has been equally loyal to his classmates at college in asking his intimate college friends to be his ushers. And so there is nothing official about the

The chimes of wedding bells have echoed from Washington to London where two society belies of the National Capital of the same name, but no re lation, were married within a week of each other. Miss Dorothy Williams, now Mrs. William F. McCombs, attended the marriage with Mr. McCombs, on Oc tober ... of Miss May Williams and Brig. Gen. William Crozier, Chief of "the dansant" -girls do not wish to dance together—so Washingt Ordnance, U. S. A. at Harover Square, London. Both marriages came as a great surprise to their many Washington friends, although rumors of the two engagements had reached here during the fall.

Although brides and their attendant bridesmaids are plentiful this season if more Washington girls are married in London, this city's nose will-be quite out of joint. A number of notable weddings are to take place here this mont and the first part of December.

The debutantes will soon take the center of the social stage. In other cities debutante tess have been the rage during the past month, but Washing ton society is more backward about advancing the new claimant for social honors, and allows the prospective bride to occupy the spotlight.

With the arrival of November, however, the dates for teas and receptions are being amounted. There are fewer debutantes this season than in years attention. She will be introduced to society by her aunt, Mrs. Richard Weightman, at her residence in Sunderland Place. Miss Dorothy Wyeth, daughter of Col. and Mrs. Mariborough C. Wyeth, will be presented at an afternoon reception, Tuesday, November 18.

On November 22 Rear Admiral and Mrs. Edward H. Gheen will introduce their daughter, Miss Mary Cheen, at a "the dansant" at Rauscher's, Two days later Miss Eleanora Carroll Morgan, whose distinguished ancestors took a prominent part in the history of Maryland and the District of Columbia when great men were the rule and not the exception, will be presented by her par ents, Dr. and Mrs. James Dodky Morgan, to their large circle of Washingto friends at their country place in Chevy Chase,

An afternoon reception is no longer a successful entertainment unless it is turned into a "Tango Tea." Consequently, every one who boasts a large drawing room is giving a "the dansant." It is hardly a fashion that will last. So-
